Biography

The German-Italian love story of Thierry Condor's parents began in French-speaking Switzerland and the artist grew up multilingual. Later on, he took his birth name as his artist's one. During his school days, the self-taught musician played guitar, drums, saxophone and a piano he had restored himself. Italian songwriters and the Beatles were his constant companions and he developed a preference for songs whose lyrics also tell a story.

Over many professional visits to the USA, Thierry Condor became an enthusiast for West Coast Pop, R&B and jazz. He took singing lessons in Chicago and continued his training after his return to Switzerland at the Jazz School Lucerne.

Thierry Condor is married, a father of four and lives with his family in Switzerland.

"City Nights" Album

Following four studio albums comprised of cover versions, Thierry Condor is now releasing his fifth album "City Nights" – his first original album, co-written by himself and his team. This songwriting team, consisting of Urs Wiesendanger, Bruno Amatruda and Jackie Kavan, managed to give his West Coast Pop compositions that personal touch, which in turn allowed Thierry to fully unleash his unmistakable voice and surpass himself in his musical interpretation.
